

ELIZABETH ADAMS SIDES

INT. SAM ADAMS HOUSE, PARLOR - NIGHT

Sam Adams sits by the fireplace.

Sam's wife ELIZABETH ADAMS enters, carrying a teapot and two teacups. She sits down next to him, filling each cup with green tea.

ELIZABETH ADAMS
Well, it sounds as if word has spread like wildfire.

SAM ADAMS
And still the House will do nothing.

She picks up her tea cup.

ELIZABETH ADAMS
Well, then -- what will you do?

SAM ADAMS
I'm not sure yet. I need to talk to Hancock.

ELIZABETH ADAMS
He must be furious.

SAM ADAMS
Well, he has a lot to lose.

ELIZABETH ADAMS
We all do.
